Kapitel 5: Eagle and cliff

The first thing I recognise, when I wake up is, that the others are gone. Neither Luffy nor one of the others is here. I am alone. Slowly I stand up and look around. What is this? Around me, there are trunks and it's not natural. Like someone want's to build something out of them. Over me, there is only air. And now I know where I am. I'm in a nest. A really big nest. The bird must be 6 meters high, who is here at home. Panicked I run from one end of the nest to the other and search for a way down. There is non. I swet. I must go down and out of this nest. If the bird comes back..., I don't want to know what happens then. Suddenly there is a strange noise. My chin fell to the ground, when a heavy thing fell into the nest behind me. In slow motion I turn around and start screaming. Now there is an eagle in the nest. A really big one with a death glare in his eyes. I want to go out of the way of that big thing. I step one step back and I break a branch. When I hear the noise I jerk. Now all the eagles attention is on me. He stretch out his wings and starts screaming. I do it also and ran down the tree where the nest is on. I don't know how I do this, but I don't think about it. I only run. I'm the fastest is our crew, so I think I can leave the eagle behind me. I think... 'Don't look back,' I tell myself more and more times. Then I hear the eagle voice again. Faster I run threw the forest. He is behind me. He turns his claws to me and wants to grape me. I scream and run faster. Then suddenly I feel no ground under me anymore. Shocked I look down. It's a cliff. I fall. Down the cliff. I don't know how long I will fall, but I hope it will be fast. I want to end this. The eagle above me flow after me and wants to hit me. Under me there is only nothing. I can't see the ground. I can't believe this. Why ever me? Every time the bad things happens to me. The last time I was able to rescue me on my own. This time I can't do it. I start crying. The first time the eagle hits me with his claws. Pain is anything I feel now. Blood sprays all over the face of the eagle. My blood. Now I can see another bad thing. Now I can see what is under me. There are spikes. No one can rescue me now. It's over. A second time my back is tear open. More blood comes out. I cry like a baby. But I can do it. It will be over soon, so no one will laugh at me. The spikes come nearer. I scream: 'Luffy. Why don't you help me... please.' One last time a tear leaf my eyes and then it's over. I'm not falling anymore, but I'm not in the spikes. I open my eyes and see in the wonderful eyes of the person I will never forget. Kaja. She hugs me and moves one hand up and down my back. The wounds are gone. I can't stop looking in her eyes as she tells me: 'Wait for Luffy and anything will be good.' Then suddenly I'm sitting on a grass floor. Kaja is gone.
