

The value

Value. What is that exactly? Mostly it's count by money. But is that really value? Okay, it does give something like the benefit value, the worth value, the treasure value or even the verb (to) value. But I mean the article of value. Some people think about the value of life. Some people say that it isn't even worth to life. Other says that we should thank god for life. But I wouldn't count that to value too. I would say that friends, doings and such things have values. Not life, food and so on. Value isn't existent, I think.
